

Cable tray roll material price

Article Overview

Cable tray rolls typically range from $50 to $150 per 100-foot roll, depending on material, width, and supplier.

Price Overview

- Promera Cable Tray Liner: A 100-foot roll of black 0.030" polypropylene for 18" or 24" wide trays is available, though the exact price is listed on the supplier's website and may vary based on shipping and quantity .
- eBay and Amazon: Cable tray rollers and related accessories are sold with prices varying widely depending on brand, material, and size. Lightweight or small rollers may cost around $20-$50, while heavy-duty or high-strength rollers can exceed $100 .
- Katimex Rollers: Industrial-grade rollers for cable trays, including plastic, aluminum, or steel designs, are priced according to diameter and load capacity. These are typically used in commercial or industrial installations and may cost more than standard consumer-grade rollers .

Factors Affecting Price

- Material: Polypropylene, steel, or aluminum options influence durability and cost.
- Width and Length: Standard rolls are 100 feet, but wider trays or custom lengths may increase price.
- Supplier and Shipping: Online marketplaces like Amazon or eBay may offer competitive pricing, while specialized suppliers like Katimex provide industrial-grade solutions with higher costs.
