

LC fiber optic adapter high temperature resistance customs declaration

Article Overview

LC fiber optic adapters typically withstand operational temperatures from -40°C to $+85^{\circ}\text{C}$, and customs declarations require accurate country-of-origin marking based on assembly and component sourcing.

High-Temperature Resistance

LC fiber optic adapters are designed to maintain performance under extreme temperatures. Standard operational ranges are -40°C to $+75^{\circ}\text{C}$ or up to $+85^{\circ}\text{C}$ depending on the manufacturer, with storage tolerances extending slightly higher, up to $+85^{\circ}\text{C}$. High-temperature testing, such as IEC 61300-2-18, confirms that adapters can endure 70°C for 96 hours with minimal insertion loss change (
