

Ranking of Australian Mesh Cable Tray Manufacturers

Article Overview

EzyStrut, Burndy CSS, Apexio Industrial, and Ferrotech are among the top Australian companies producing high-quality mesh cable trays.

EzyStrut

EzyStrut is a leading Australian manufacturer with over 35 years of experience in cable management. They offer a wide range of cable trays, including wire mesh trays, ladder trays, and solid-bottom trays, suitable for both commercial and industrial applications. Their products are durable, versatile, and compliant with Australian standards, making them popular in sectors like mining, telecommunications, and construction. EzyStrut trays are lightweight, easy to install, and available in pre-galvanised steel, hot-dip galvanised steel, or aluminium, with customization options for high-volume or specialized projects (Web result).

Burndy CSS

Burndy Cable Support Systems specializes in cable trays designed for extreme conditions, such as high temperatures and corrosive environments. Their mesh cable trays are engineered for industries like oil and gas, mining, and power generation. Burndy CSS offers both standard and custom solutions, ensuring long-lasting performance and compliance with stringent Australian regulations. Their products are known for flexibility, ease of installation, and durability in harsh industrial settings (Web result).
