

Xiaomi AI server request timed out

Overview

Common causes include network issues, server problems, browser issues, and incorrect DNS settings. Check your internet connection and restart your router or modem to fix the error. Temporarily disable your firewall and antivirus to see if they block the connection. The 'Request timed out' error from the OpenAI API means the server did not return a response within the allowed time. Fix by increasing your client timeout, reducing max_tokens, using streaming for long responses. Fetch timeout repeatedly occurs when querying xiaomi-coding provider (<https://token-plan-cn>). The xiaomi-coding provider is configured as a standard OpenAI-compatible endpoint: "xiaomi-coding": { "baseUrl": "https://token-plan-cn".
